An Elizabeth graduate is (a/an)...

Leader

Possesses a vision and the capability to work and coordinate with others in a variety of methods to create and fulfill a collective mission. Builds trust and demonstrates a service orientation.

Empathetic & Collaborative

Possesses integrity, compassion, and strong work ethic as a member of a team. Respects cultural/social differences of individuals in a group and accepts responsibility for one's own attitudes and behaviors.

Adaptable & Resilient

Works effectively individually and in teams while being versatile and tenacious in overcoming adversity. Invests time and effort in important tasks, is self-aware and able to change and grow as the situation requires. Possesses confidence in one's abilities to persist and overcome obstacles as they arise.

Effective Communicator

Possesses capacity for empathetic listening, and clarity in speaking and writing. Shows curiosity in conversation with others and a concern for the interests of the group or community. Is able to mobilize a group to action, if needed.

Independent Learner

Accepts responsibility for their own learning—acquires knowledge and skills through their own efforts, possesses curiosity/passion, self-motivation, self-reflection, goal orientation, tenacity, and the ability to see failure as an opportunity to learn.

Academically Prepared

Possesses and is able to effectively use literacy, numeracy, analytical, problem-solving, and other skills.

Entrepreneurial

Willing and able to undertake a project or activity requiring initiative and involving risk, for one's own purposes or to improve things for others. Able to use a deliberate process to creatively develop solutions to authentic problems.
